POLICY: The Department has a responsibility to provide liaison and assistance to the family of an employee who dies. This responsibility includes providing tangible and intangible support for the family during the traumatic period of readjustment. A comprehensive study of the survivors' benefits with clarification should be provided for the family. Continued support for the family is essential.

The purpose of this directive is to prepare the Department for the event of an employee's death, either active or retired; to direct the Department in providing support for a deceased employee's family through contingency plans and procedures; and to establish procedures for Departmental representation at funerals.

PROCEDURES:

1. DEFINITIONS

For the purposes of this directive, employee shall mean any person, sworn or civilian, whose job responsibilities are primarily directed toward the Police Department. Death may be classified as either natural or sudden. Natural death is one that is from natural causes (i.e., age, prolonged debilitating illness, etc.).

Sudden death is defined as any death that is out of the ordinary, included but not limited to, automobile accidents, training accidents, illness such as heart attacks, etc., which claims the life of a Departmental employee.

Family includes the deceased employee's spouse, children, parents, siblings, fiancée, and/or significant other.

2. NOTIFICATIONS

Regardless of who receives the initial notification of the death, the following procedures will be in effect. The person receiving the information will cause the chain of command of the deceased employee to be notified. The chain of command will be up to and including the Chief of Police. Retired employees' chain of command will be considered to be the Special Operations Division.

Officers and dispatchers should be aware that in the event of an on-duty death or injury, the external monitoring of the police frequency will be extensive, particularly by the news media. Communications regarding notifications should be restricted to the telephone whenever possible. The name of the injured or deceased employee shall never be released to the media before the family of the employee is notified. If the media already has the employee's name, they should respond to a request to withhold this information pending family notification.

3. RESPONSIBILITIES

3.1 DIVISION COMMANDER'S RESPONSIBILITIES

The incident commander shall see that the appropriate division commander is notified when a severe injury or Departmental death occurs. If an active employee is involved, the division commander is responsible for coordinating the arrival of the family, police officers, media, and others. The deceased employee's division commander will be responsible for the following duties:

- a. Respond to the hospital upon notification.
- b. Establish a Hospital Command Post to act as a single authoritative voice for all direction and information concerning the incident.
- c. Coordinate the arrival of immediate survivors, police officers, media, and others. The responsibilities include:
 1. Provide transportation of the survivors to the hospital, if possible.
 2. Arrange with hospital personnel for appropriate waiting facilities. If possible, segregated areas should be reserved for:
 - a. Family, Chief of Police, Notification Officer, and others requested by the family.
 - b. A separate area for officers and friends.
 - c. A press staging area.
- d. Appoint a Notification Officer.
- e. Appoint a Family Liaison Officer.
- f. Notify the Orlando Police Department Chaplain.
- g. Notify the Critical Incident Stress Management Team Commander.
- h. Notify Media Relations.
- i. See that the appropriate referrals are made, within 24 hours, to the Employee Assistance Program or the Critical Incident Stress Management Team as required.

If the division commander is unavailable, the bureau commander from the affected bureau will appoint another manager to act in his/her place.

3.2 NOTIFICATION OFFICER'S RESPONSIBILITIES

The Notification Officer is responsible for the notification of the deceased employee's family. The Notification Officer may be appointed by the division commander, volunteer for the assignment, or be predesignated by the injured/deceased employee. If neither the bureau commander nor division commander are available, the designation of the Notification Officer shall fall to the senior ranking member. If distance or circumstances make an in-person notification by Orlando Police Department personnel impractical, the Notification Officer shall contact the appropriate law enforcement agency and request that they make an in-person notification. Timeliness takes precedence over protocol in the death notification process. The division commander is responsible for ensuring that immediate notification is made to the family. Upon confirmation of death, a death notification must be made shortly after, or coincidentally with normal command notifications.

Any notification of family should be made via a personal contact. The Notification Officer is responsible for obtaining the family information. Logistical arrangements should include the telephone number for a ranking officer of this Department or the Notification Officer.

3.3 FAMILY LIAISON OFFICER'S RESPONSIBILITIES

3.3.1 INITIAL RESPONSIBILITIES

The Family Liaison Officer can either be appointed by the division commander or may volunteer for the position. In the event of a retired employee's death, where no one steps forward to assist, the Family Liaison Officer will be appointed by the Special Operations Division Commander. The responsibilities encompassed by the position include:

- a. Ensure that medical personnel relate pertinent information of the employee's condition to the rest of the family first.
- b. Notify the appropriate hospital personnel that all medical billing shall be directed to the Family Liaison Officer on those occasions that apply.
- c. Arrange transportation for the family and others from the hospital back to their residence.
- d. Arrange visitation for the family with the critically injured employee prior to death, if it is possible. Depending on hospital policy, they should be afforded the opportunity as soon as possible. Medical personnel should make the family aware of the hospital policy about visiting a trauma patient or visitation with the remains. Medical personnel should explain why an autopsy is required.
- e. Contact the Communications Division and inform them that all calls relating to the family be routed through the Family Liaison Officer.
- f. Expedite provision for all Department resources.
- g. Assist the family with arrangements for out-of-town visitors, survey of local churches and reception halls to check seating capacity, and media liaison via Media Relations.
- h. Arrange routine residence check for the next six to eight weeks following the tragedy. This service is necessary since large amounts of money will be passing through the residence.
- i. Meet with the family and funeral director regarding funeral arrangements. Check with the Police Career Counselor and determine if the affected employee had a planning packet on file. If no decisions were made, assist the family in making choices about the funeral. Make sure to coordinate all efforts with the Special Operations Division Commander if a Departmental funeral is requested.
- j. Relay all available information to the family concerning the circumstances of the death, if possible. Remember, there is a certain amount of sensitivity about releasing information concerning a homicide. The release of such information should be reviewed and approved by the Criminal Investigations Division Commander.
- k. Report regularly to the affected division commander on pertinent aspects of the death and its handling.
- l. Assist the family in obtaining information on survivors' benefits, filing for workmen's compensation claims, and filling out related paperwork.
- m. Field all phone calls and inquires regarding the establishment of any special trust or educational fund.

3.3.2 FOLLOW-UP RESPONSIBILITIES

Emotional support for the family is as important as financial. The Family Liaison Officer should be well versed in the area of dealing with witnesses and victims. Below is a list of suggested tasks for family support:

- b. Accompany the family to any criminal or civil proceedings, introduce them to the prosecutor, and answer any questions that the family may have.
- c. Cooperate with outside peer groups, such as religious, professional, or social organizations the employee is a member of at the time of death.
- d. Ensure that the family does not feel isolated by the Department.
- e. Encourage others to make visits, or help with family needs, but not make idle promises.
- f. Provide support personnel and services from the Fraternal Order of Police and the Fraternal Order of Police Associates.

Since the grief process has no set timetable, the Family Liaison Officer should gauge his/her withdrawal to the needs of the family. Ensure that the family is still included in police functions. Try to keep in touch with the family at least once a month throughout the first year.

The Family Liaison Officer or the Staff Director should ensure that the Chief of Police is notified about the upcoming anniversary date of the employee's death. Observe the date with some sort of personal contact and a note to the family or flowers to the grave site.

Informal representation will normally be provided for funerals of other law enforcement employees within the state of Florida who were killed in the line of duty, active or retired employees of the Orlando Fire Department, and government officials or employees of other City departments as determined by the Chief of Police.
